Learning Objectives

This training session will help participants to:

- Understand the framework for building a just and culturally responsive organization.
- Acquire tools for organizational assessment, planning, and implementation around cultural responsiveness.
- Apply a DEIA framework to organizational policies, practices, and structures.

“Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly, affects all indirectly.”

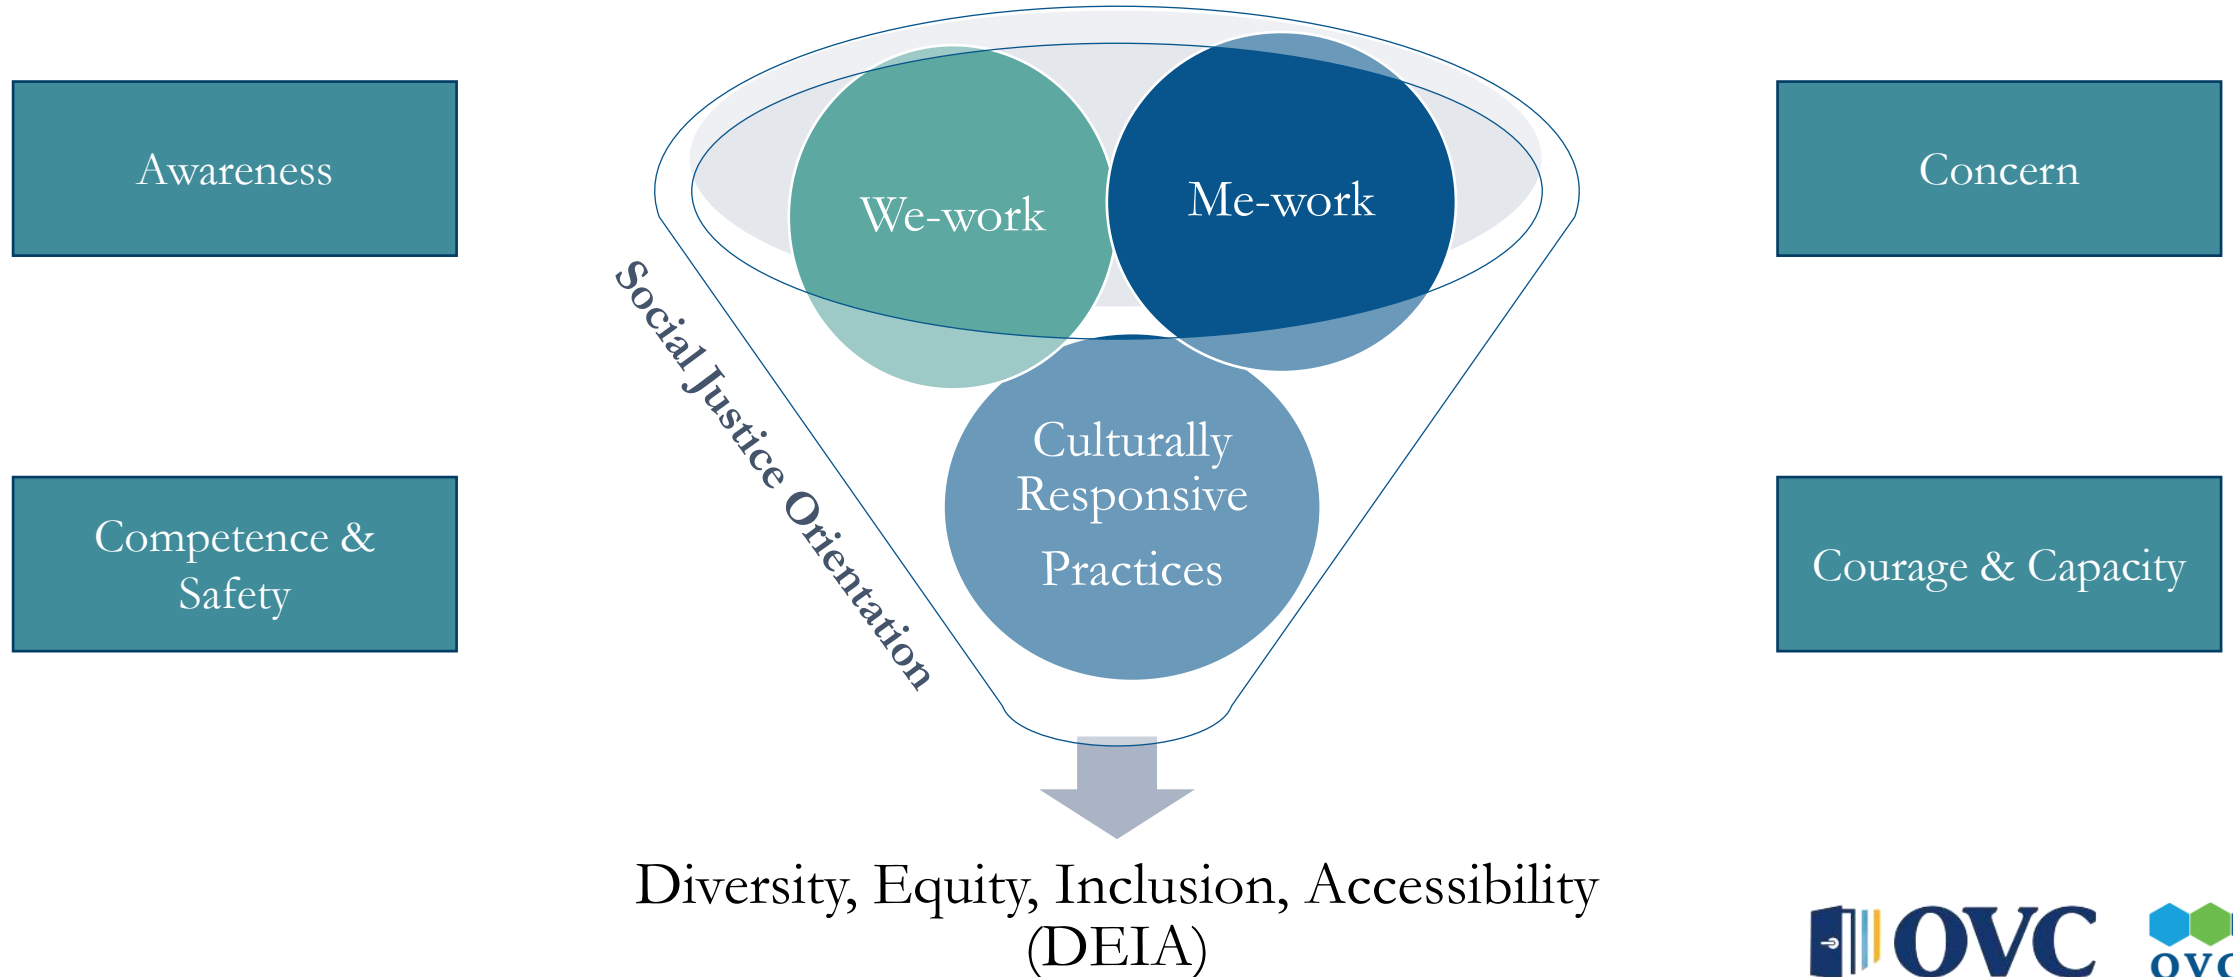

— Martin Luther King Jr.

Framework for DEIA

Structure of a Justice-led Organization

Cultivating DEIA

Framing the “We-work”

CULTIVATE CONCERN, CAPACITY & SAFETY

- Establish a common vision for DEIA
- Foster difficult conversations
- Build trust: transparency & psychological safety
- Embrace authenticity
- Meaningfully engage partners & client voices
- Encourage allyship, disruption & advocacy
- Sustain cultural responsiveness practices
- Foster social & emotional wellness
- Model continuous improvement

Assets for Championing DEIA

Name 1-2 areas of strength to support DEIA in your organization.

Cultivate Awareness

Vision, Assessment, Opportunities for Growth

What is your organization's vision for DEIA?

Cultivate Awareness: Set a Vision

Why?

- Communicate values internally
- Communicate values externally
- Foundation for DEIA efforts
- Opportunity to build buy-in from within the organization

What?

- Statement on your website
- Statement included on communications
- Actionable steps toward strategic goals

Cultivate Awareness: Assessment

- Diversity – What gaps exist in having a staff that reflects our clients & communities?
- Equity – What practices do we need to address to improve equity?
- Inclusion – What voices are missing from decision-making, planning, and implementing services? What policies do we have that potentially exclude clients?
- Accessibility – What gaps do we have in meeting the needs of our clients who require additional support to access services?

Cultivate Awareness: Assessment

Liberatory Thinking Tool

- Self-reflection tool to support individuals in using liberatory thinking.

What is Liberatory Thinking?

- Liberatory thinking is the re-imagining of one's assumptions and beliefs about others and their capabilities by interrupting internal beliefs that undermine productive relationships and actions.

Liberatory Thinking Tool

How were you feeling?

new information generally alright ready for the day
bit tired Tired and calm neutral
Curious Good tired content
external factors Ready to learn tired but normal
Open to learn little Tired but good Tired and anxious Tired and busy slightly stressed Focused and calm

Poll: Organizational DEIA Awareness

1

READY to LEARN – We recognize we have some work to do in this area and are willing to move out of our comfort zone.

2

LEARNING – We have done some work and feel confident in our ability to continue practicing these principles.

3

DELIVERING – We have extensive experience and comfort in navigating the practices aligned to these principles. We can help others.

Poll: Challenges to Advancing DEIA

Which of the following do you see as the greatest challenge to advancing DEIA?

Organizational Diversity

Organizational Awareness & Training

Psychological Safety & Trust

Leadership Buy-in

Client & Partner Engagement

Cultivate Concern: Building Consensus

What is your “why”?

What gaps have you identified in your services?

What barriers to access have you identified?

Building Consensus: Common Understanding

- Cultural Humility – Practice that requires us to view ourselves not as experts in other people's cultures, but, rather, as learners. By acknowledging that we don't know everything about cultures other than our own, we are showing respect and demonstrating our openness to learning.
- Cultural Competence – Process by which we acquire, integrate, and transform knowledge about individuals and groups of people into specific standards, policies, practices, and attitudes, used in appropriate cultural settings to increase quality of interactions and services, thereby producing better outcomes.
- Cultural Responsiveness – Practice that combines increasing awareness of cultural factors and responding to them in an appropriate manner. This involves including culture as part of client assessments, tailoring interventions to take the client's culture into account, all while demonstrating respect, building on the strengths of the culture, and attending to clients in the contexts of their social environments, including culture.

Building Consensus: Policies, Bylaws

What makes a policy inclusive?

Cultivate Concern: Inclusive Policies

- Cultural Identity – Policies and procedures demonstrating how the agency is responsive to the needs of a client’s cultural identity and experience
- Gender Identity – Any client forms related to the intake or case management process (or written protocols) that demonstrate how the agency responds according to a client’s gender identity and/or selected pronouns
- Sexual Orientation – Any client forms related to the intake or case management process (or written protocols) that demonstrate how the agency responds according to a client’s sexual orientation

Building Consensus: Partnership

What information do you need to collect from your partners about DEIA?

- DEIA supports
- Potential barriers to inclusion
- Policies & procedures that support equity

Cultivate Concern: Engage Partners

Considerations for collecting partner input:

- Delivery methods
- Barriers to accessing the survey
- Consider internal partners they will need to collect the information

Additional considerations for survey draft:

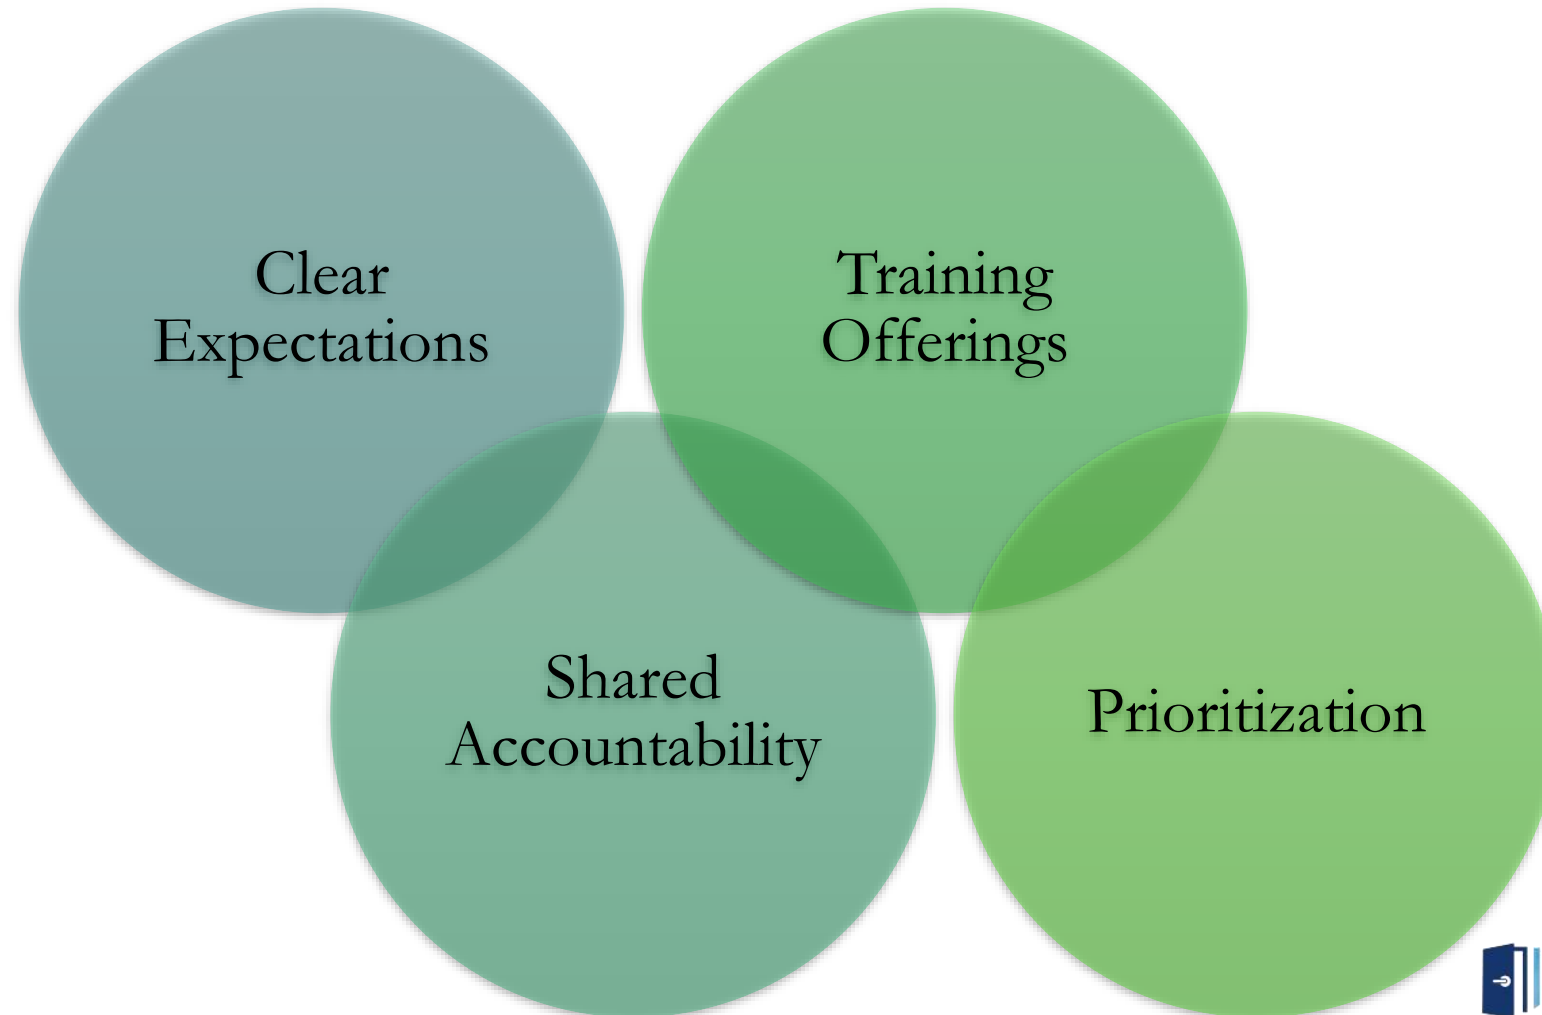

- What similar questions can you ask across partner groups?
- What partner-specific questions need to be asked?
- What have you learned from previous surveys? What has worked well? What has not worked?
- What goals can you set around the survey? (e.g., response rate, experience ratings, information to inform planning)

Cultivate Competence & Safety

Growth Mindset, Fostering Cultural Safety

Building Cultural Competence

Building Cultural Safety

What does it mean to foster cultural safety?

- Psychological Safety
- Authenticity at Work
- Permission to Fail
- Courageous Conversations

Cultivate Cultural Safety

External Factors

What incorrect or negative assumptions have we made about our clients?

How well are we meeting the linguistic needs of our clients?

What data does our team use to understand the diversity of our clients?

In what ways does our organization meaningfully engage client (survivor) voice?

How do our procedures empower clients and inform them of their rights?

Cultivate Cultural Safety

Internal Factors

In what ways does our organizational culture foster communication & trust?

How often does our organization assess aspects of positive & inclusive culture?

At what levels/in what roles could our organization improve in reflecting diversity?

Does my organization have a clear plan for DEIA?

In what ways does leadership demonstrate support for employee well-being?

Cultivate Courage & Capacity

Trust, Difficult Conversations, Allyship

“We need to trust to be vulnerable, and we need to be vulnerable in order to build trust.”

— Brené Brown

Reflect: Building Trust

What will it take to improve trust within your organization?

Cultivate Courage: Using a Trust Canvas

Disposition Results

■ 1 - Ready to Learn ■ 2 - Learning ■ 3 - Delivering

I am ready to sit next to someone I disagree with rather than across from them

I am ready to ally across affinity* to resolve challenges that will lead to growth and opportunity

I am willing to put the problem in front of us rather than sliding it toward you

I am ready to remain curious, listen, ask questions, and accept that I may not fully understand the issue

I can model the vulnerability and openness that I expect to see from you

I am open to owning my part

I recognize the urgency of the work that I can do
